New Division of the British Army Acquits Itself Creditably in Beating Off German Attacks.

Tremendous Losses Sustained By the Allied Forces.

Bulgar Successes Reported From Macedonia Sector.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, September 30.—Desperate fighting has been in progress along the northern end of the Somme front, where the British have recently made important inroads upon German positions south of the Ancre.

London today reports heavy counter attacks by the Germans near the St. Eloi redoubt and the Hessian trench and declares that a division of the new British army acquitted itself most creditably in beating off the Germans.

Further down the line toward the Somme, the French have resumed their attacks, pushing further the wedge into the German lines in the region of Rancourt.

The new French advance, according to Paris, was scored by means of hand-grenade operations.

British Lose Heavily

The British lost heavily in the fighting on the Somme front during September. This is indicated by the casualty lists, showing more than 3,800 casualties a day.

Bulgar Success

London, September 30.—In Macedonia, the Bulgarians report a success in the Karmakalan region, near the Serbian border, where a trench of the main Serbian position was captured after a Serbian attack had been repulsed.

No Changes

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, September 30.—No important changes are announced elsewhere on the southern front. Petrograd reports there have been no important happenings on the Russian front or in the Caucasus.

"Subs" Active

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

Washington, September 30.—Reports received here from London today show that between June 1 and September 24 there have been 262 boats sunk by submarines.

Of these, 66 were ships of neutral countries and 15 were reported sunk without warning, with the loss of 84 lives, making a grand total of 277 ships destroyed.

This report shows that submarine activity has practically doubled during the last two months. August was the month of greatest activity.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, September 30.—The Roumanian invasion of Transylvania has met with a setback, according to the Berlin statement today, which says that in the region of Hermanstadt, about 20 miles north of the Roumanian border, troops under General von Falkenhayn won an important victory over the Roumanians.

Greeks Mobilize

(Associated Press Cable.)

Patras, Greece, September 28, via London, September 30.—The Evening papers of Patras today announced a general mobilization had been decreed. Reservists rushed to arms presenting themselves at the barracks to be equipped. Great enthusiasm prevailed.

The colonel in command of the Patras garrison, an adherent of Venizelos, ordered the reservists to disperse, saying the King never would make war on Germany.

This angered the reservists who mishandled him badly, shouting: "Long live the King! Hurrah for war against Bulgaria!"

Washington, September 30.—Major General Funston today ordered home the First Regiment of New York Field Artillery and the Tenth Pennsylvania Regiment of Infantry from the Mexican front.

ROOSEVELT'S FIRST SPEECH

Battle Creek Turns Out a Big Crowd To Hear Strenuous Ex-President.

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

Battle Creek, Mich., September 30.—Thousands of persons from this city and nearby towns crowded the city today to greet Theodore Roosevelt, who today made the second speech in support of Charles E. Hughes that he has made in the present campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt reviewed a great parade and attended a reception before going to the large tent that had been set up to accommodate the large crowd that wished to hear him and other prominent speakers from various parts of the country discuss the issues of the campaign.

Before the mass gathering, thousands of persons were fed at a "prosperity" barbecue.

Greek Populace Had Been Worked Into a Fury By War Speeches

GREEKS AT SALONIKI LISTENING TO WAR SPEECH

The Greeks had long listened to war speeches by Venizelos and his followers before King Constantine finally withdrew his opposition to war on the side of the allies. In fact, public speaking was prohibited for a time by Premier Zaimas because of the possible result. The population of Saloniki, Greece, the base of operations of the allies' troops against Bulgaria, was practically all inclined toward revolution, which was encouraged by Venizelos. Fiery war speeches were always cheered by the thousands who heard them in the public square.

GOV. WILLIS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Willis and Daughter, Helen, Also Injured, But None of Them Seriously.

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

Delaware, O., September 30.—Governor Frank B. Willis, his wife, and daughter, Miss Helen, received more or less serious injuries this morning about 7:30 o'clock when a heavy truck ran into the taxicab in which they were being conveyed from the home of the Governor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Willis, to the Hocking Valley station, where they were to take a train for Columbus.

Mrs. Willis was the most seriously injured and is now in the Jane Case Hospital, at Delaware.

She was thrown from the machine to the pavement and suffered a contusion of the forehead and bruises about the head and body.

The Governor was thrown through the windshield and escaped with a laceration of the right hand.

His daughter was also thrown out of the machine, but was only slightly bruised.

The Governor and his family went to Delaware last evening to spend the night at his parents' home. He will remain in Delaware Saturday and possibly Sunday, when his wife may be able to leave the hospital.

MRS. WILLIS' INJURIES

Delaware, O., September 30.—

Later it was learned that the Governor's wife was more seriously injured than at first supposed. It was stated that she may be confined to the hospital here for several days.

Mrs. Willis, it was learned, suffered a five-inch gash over the right eye and another cut just below the brow of the right eye.

Her right arm may be broken. She was considerably bruised and is suffering from nervous shock.

Miss Willis escaped without a scratch. The Governor will remain here until it is definitely decided just how seriously Mrs. Willis is injured.

The wreck occurred at Kings Mills, 20 miles from here.

Engineer J. J. Berry and Fireman Samuel Miller, both of Cincinnati, were killed.

Engineer C. H. Keck and Fireman P. J. Cox, of Cincinnati, the crew of the second engine, were badly injured.

Five passengers and a baggage-man were less seriously injured.

Fifteen hundred feet of track was torn up and traffic was delayed until late this afternoon.

DISTRIBUTING BENEFIT FUND

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

New York, September 30.—Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees began today the distribution of a $50,000 strike benefit fund among the street car men who have been on strike here since September 12.

According to figures given out by local labor leaders, each man was to receive $5. The organizers said a similar amount will be distributed each week.

900 RETURN

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

New York, September 30.—Efforts to organize a general strike in support of the car men suffered a check today when the 900 brewery workers who quit in response to the general call returned to work.

Nevertheless, the labor chiefs asserted that 100,000 workers, aside from the United Hebrew Trades, are on strike.

Traction officials said the street car men who quit are gradually returning to work, and that the places of the strikers are slowly being filled by new men.

For the first time since the strike began, surface cars were operated on lower Broadway last night.

NOTABLES ATTENDING "KARNAVAL"

Portsmouth is Pinching Itself When Many Celebrities Come to Big Show

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

Portsmouth, Ohio, September 30.—Citizens of Portsmouth were drawing deep breaths today and pinching themselves to see if they were actually awake or only dreaming. It happened this way:

Every year Portsmouth holds a corn carnival, at which King Corn reigns supreme. This year the committee in charge conceived the idea of inviting the rulers of every nation to come to the carnival.

Naturally, they did not expect acceptances, as many of the rulers are engaged in war. But to the committee's surprise, President Manuel Estrada Cabrera, of Guatemala, sent his acceptance.

He regretted he could not attend in person, but would send his general consul, Dr. Ramon Bengoechea, of New York City.

Both President Wilson and Governor Willis sent their regrets.

Then Dr. Bengoechea wired from New York that he was coming with a party of four, and they arrived Wednesday, the opening day of the carnival.

In the party was the Consul, his secretary, Madame Guerra, and Mrs. R. Bengoechea, daughter-in-law of the Consul.

When asked how long they would remain, the consul asked, "How long does the carnival last?"

When told that it lasted the remainder of the week, he "allowed" that the party would stay that long anyway. It is expected that the Consul will leave for New York tonight.

The women of the party immediately won their way into the hearts of the Portsmouth women. The entire party has been watching the parade every evening, and during the day has been taking automobile rides over southern Ohio.

The Consul expressed himself as highly pleased with Ohio, especially the corn belt.

READY FOR GAME AT WILMINGTON IN SEPTEMBER

The Athletics, with a line up supposed to be able to bring home the bacon, no matter if Wilmington does tighten up with Blodgett, the best hurler on the Columbus team, and other American Association professional stars, will journey to the quiet little Quaker town tomorrow for the second one of the post-championship games, full of confidence.

It will be remembered that our noble band of ball tossers won the championship in the inter-city contest of five games, by taking the last game of the series, with ease, on the home grounds of the Clintons two weeks ago tomorrow.

The humbled and contrite Clintons begged them for two exhibition games. The Athletics consented and Wilmington copped the first exhibition contest last Sunday at Washington.

Tomorrow the second exhibition game will be played over in Quaker dom and the Clintons will try hard to land it to atone for their loss of the championship.

Our boys are good sports and like the Wilmington team all right, but not enough baseballically speaking to not fight tooth and nail for the last of the exhibition games.

LOCAL HIGH WINNING GAME AT GREENFIELD

Quite a number of football enthusiasts accompanied the local high school eleven to Greenfield today for the big inter-school game at that place.

In the presence of a good crowd the game started with Harper receiving forward pass. He carried it to within three yards of the goal, when Gregg took the pigskin over the line scoring 6 points for Washington.

Willis then kicked a goal for Washington, scoring one point.

Greenfield outweighed the Washington team, but the visitors showed the most class.

FAYETTE MARE IS SOLD IN COLUMBUS

Babe Crescous, bay mare, 2:12 1/2, owned by Chas. Wissler, Geo. Gesling and Oscar Vallery, has been sold to Columbus parties, for a sum, and has been turned over to the new owner. The deal was made Friday.

SATISFIED OF NO WRONG INTENTION

A check or two given by Mr. W. J. Jones, representing the Lincoln Memorial University, of Cumberland Gap, Tenn., having been returned to Mr. C. H. Griffis, of the Cherry Hotel, Mr. Griffis Friday went to Xenia to see Mr. Jones about the matter.

Mr. Jones expressed surprise that the checks should be returned, and announced that he would immediately take steps to have the matter attended to, and wired Dr. Geo. A. Hubbell, president of the institution to look after the matter at once.

Satisfied that Mr. Jones would give the matter prompt attention, Mr. Griffis returned to this city, and Mr. Jones is to be back within a day or two and make proper adjustment. He expressed deep regret that the annoyance should occur, and stated that he would also see that Mr. Griffis was reimbursed for his expenses over to Xenia.

Mr. Griffis announced Saturday that there was no cause for alarm or censure, and that he was satisfied of the best intentions of Mr. Jones, and expressed confidence in the cause represented by him.

Quality First

ONE YEAR AGO THE 3400 r.p.m. CHALMERS CAME INTO BEING; NOW 50,000,000 HAPPY MILES LIE BEHIND IT

Just one year ago the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers was born.

September 30th is its Anniversary Day.

It was untried, unknown, looked a little strange because it was different, and nobody outside of four men knew what it could do.

These four men—the men who had dreamed the car—had little to say.

“What will it do?” they were asked.

“Get in and try,” they replied.

And in three days’ time every last Chalmers executive had experienced a thrill that was new behind the wheel.

They banged it around in city traffic, abused it on hills, ran it through broken fields, made it take hurdles they would never ask their own personal cars to take.

They were amazed and then they sat down and decided to build three times as many of these cars as they had ever built of any model in a single year before—$22,000,000 worth.

Then behold the situation. Six months later these 18,000 cars were all built. Then 10,000 more were ordered.

And a few days ago we got word that 20,000 more are being built — 48,000 of these 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers.

48,000 in all—a $56,000,000 business in a single model!

So you see why we are proud to have a birthday party for the car.

Any car that has 50,000,000 happy miles of use behind it certainly has an interesting history and its birthday anniversary is an event.

Remember this is only its first birthday. So successful has the car proven that the Chalmers Company is continuing to build it right through into next year. So you're safe in getting a car now that won't be obsolete in the spring.

Consider the price, $1090 Detroit.

Come in today. Attend the birthday party.

FIRST KILLING FROST OF SEASON

Saturday morning the first heavy killing frost of the season was very much in evidence, and the mercury registered as low as 30 degrees, or two below the freezing point.

Not only did the frost fall in abundance, but ice the thickness of window glass was frozen.

Virtually all corn, much of which was yet far from ripe, was caught by the frost, and will now ripen very rapidly.

Warned of the approaching frost, Washington citizens by the hundreds took the precaution of covering flowers in exposed places, so that the beauties of summer might be preserved for a few days longer, or until the plants could be transferred from the flower beds to pots and moved inside.

Wilson Outlines Attitude Toward Campaign.

ROUSED BY A TELEGRAM

Accused of Being Pro-British, He Wires the Head of American Truth Society That He Seeks No "Disloyal" American's Ballot—Will Deliver Number of Speeches During the Campaign.

(By American Press)

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 30.—A telegram from Jeremiah A. O'Leary of New York, president of the American Truth society, accusing President Wilson of being pro-British and saying he had failed to obtain compliance with American demands, drew a sharp retort from the chief executive.

The president sent the following reply: "Your telegram received. I would feel deeply mortified to have you or anybody like you vote for me. Since you have access to many disloyal Americans and I have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them."

Mr. O'Leary's telegram in part said: "Again we greet you with a popular disapproval of your pro-British policies, last year from the Twenty-third New York congressional district and now from your own state and from the voters of your own party. Senator Martine won because the voters of New Jersey do not want any truckling to the British empire nor do they approve of dictatorship over congress. You foreign policies, your failure to secure compliance with all American rights, your leniency with the British empire, your approval of war loans, the ammunition traffic, are issues in this campaign. Do you know that William S. Bennett, a Republican congressman, ran in the Democratic primaries in the Twenty-third New York congressional district and polled 36 per cent of the total Democratic vote against his regular Democratic opponent? Anglomaniacs and British interests may control newspapers, but they don't control votes. The people may be readers, but they are not followers of the newspapers."

The president's attitude toward the campaign and toward some of the issues before the country were made known here. He will adhere strictly to his determination not to enter into personalities or into a political controversy with Charles E. Hughes. All the speeches he will make away from Shadow Lawn will be delivered before nonpartisan organizations and will be devoted entirely to a discussion of public questions. By inference they will have a political effect. His speeches here, however, will be more political in tone.

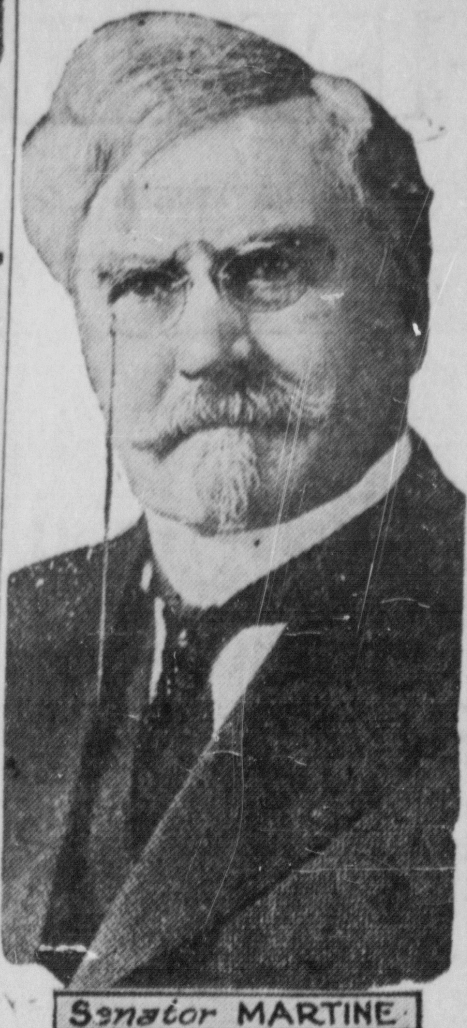

At present, American voters are entitled to know, he believes, what the Republicans would do at present in Mexico, what attitude they would take toward belligerent nations in Europe, whether they would repeal the federal reserve act, the tariff law, the rural credits act, the tariff commission bill, the eight hour law for railroad employees, the child labor law, and other legislative acts of the Democrats.

LEAVES WITH REGRET OF MANY PEOPLE

For more than four weeks Dr. Frederick Blankner has prosecuted a beneficial work in this community in rendering service to the sick and afflicted. He leaves here with the best wishes of his many patrons as he does every place he visits. Many have accepted medical treatment as well as a large army have been relieved of their diseased and aching teeth. All of his work has been in Class A. Many will regret that they failed to improve the opportunity offered by Dr. Blankner's presence in our city. He leaves here on Monday morning for Wilmington, Ohio, where he will stop at the Alice Inn for a week. Those who have friends there that they know to be afflicted would do well to write them and inform them of his good work in Washington that he is a master in his line of work. Dr. Blankner desires to thank all who have placed confidence in him, knowing that he has done everything in his power to merit it. Many have requested him to extend his time but he is unable to do so and those who really want skillful and efficient work they can make a Little Journey to Wilmington and meet the doctor at Alice Inn during the next week. At any time in the future should the doctor make a return visit he surely will be welcomed by his many friends.

The doctor will be at Arlington Hotel all day Sunday to accommodate those who desire to improve the last moment.

"FARMER ORATOR" OF NEW JERSEY, WHO WAS RENOMINATED FOR SENATE

Senator MARTINE.

The renomination of United States Senator Martine by New Jersey Democrats will be considered by some as a rebuke to the Washington administration for refusing to back the "farmer orator" in favor of Attorney General Westcott.

DOG TAKES PART IN NIGHT BATTLE

(Associated Press Cable.)

Paris, Sept. 30.—Citation of dogs in regimental orders is now common at the French front. Fox, of the 19th Company of the sixth regiment is one of these illustrious quadrupeds. The afternoon war bulletin of July 16 contained the following: "An enemy raid directed against one of our small posts in the Paschendaal region failed under our fire." It is learned from an official source that the failure was due to Fox, who thus referred to in next day's regimental orders: "Fox, Series F 4, No. 221, Kennel A., prevented a raid attempted on one of our first line trenches by the Germans. Taking advantage of the darkness, and when a gale was blowing, the enemy succeeded in reaching our barbed-wire without being seen or heard. The dog, Fox, of the 19th Company, on sentry at the end of the trench, twice gave the alarm and thus allowed us to receive the enemy with grenade fire. The surprise attack failed."

BELGIUM WILL REGAIN HER OWN SAYS BEYENS

(Associated Press Cable.)

Harve, France, Sept. 30.—"Belgium will come back to her own to her place in the sun, and to complete freedom and independence," said Baron Beyens, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Belgium, in the course of an authorized interview given to The Associated Press.

Baron Beyens is one of the notable figures of the present war, for up to the beginning of the war he was the Belgian Minister at Berlin and went through the crisis culminating in the first blow at Belgium and the immediate entry of England, France and all Europe into the seething struggle. Then, leaving Berlin, he entered the Belgian cabinet and has since directed the foreign affairs of the country, finding time also to write a book which graphically describes "the week of tragedy" at the German capital when the British and French ambassadors and himself made their last attempts to prevent the European conflict.

Baron Beyens expressed at the outset the deep sense of appreciation felt by Belgium toward the people of the United States, and in particular, toward those who had directed the work of sending food-supplies to Belgium.

"I am always glad to meet an American," said he, "and to express my gratitude to your people in general and to those who have literally saved our people from starvation. It is difficult for me to say how much we feel indebted to Mr. Hoover, head of the Committee directing the relief work of Belgium. He has proved himself a man of great resource and great ability in the gigantic task of providing for a whole nation which found itself suddenly threatened with starvation or at least with cruel privation. It was a task, moreover, requiring much diplomatic tact as well as business knowledge, for the Relief Committee was obliged to deal between the German officials on the one hand and the Allied officials on the other. But all this has been accomplished with infinite skill; obstacles which seemed at times insurmountable have been overcome, and practical results have been realized which are of the highest importance to Belgium and the Belgian people."

CLUBS CLOSED

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, Sept. 30.—The National Liberal Club and the Constitutional Club, two of the most widely known London clubs, have been commandeered for war administration purposes. Both buildings are close to the War Office and the Ministry of Munitions. Like all the clubs of London these two have suffered such a large decrease in membership through the war that the action of the government will inconvenience only a handful of the older members.

HIGH COST IN ITALY IS STILL SOARING

(Associated Press Cable.)

Rome, Italy, Sept. 30.—The high cost of living and particularly the price of coal is becoming a subject of grave concern in Italy as another war winter approaches. Due to continued excessive freight rates by sea many staple food articles are dearer in Italy than either France or England. Despite a special treaty with England for cheaper freight rates to be obtained by the loading of ships; sugar is selling at 20 cents a pound and can be bought only in small quantities, for household consumption from day to day. Coffee sells at 50 to 70 cents a pound, according to grade. Though Italy is heavy producer of wines, a table wine that once sold at 6 cents a quart now sells for 14 cents and is inferior to the old 6 cent grade. Beer is sold at 14 cents a quart, milk at 10 cents. Good butter is 55 cents a pound.

Coal that before the war sold at $10 per ton now sells at $50 and the price may go higher as winter comes. Last winter it was $30 to $40 per ton. Italy hopes to import 750,000 tons from England and 250,000 tons from the United States for industrial uses this winter.

FOOD SHORTAGE NOT CRITICAL

(Associated Press Cable.)

Amsterdam, Netherlands, Sept. 30.—Charged by the Netherlands Minister of War to investigate the latest German methods of treatment of soldiers suffering from nervous collapse and kindred ailments, Dr. Zeehandelaar of the Dutch Army Medical Service also took advantage of his stay in Berlin to look into the question of the alleged chronic underfeeding in the German capital.

"I went for the purpose," writes Dr. Zeehandelaar, "to Wannsee Lake the popular family bathing resort, where I was able to inspect some thousands of Berliners of all ages, stripped to 'the buff'. I only wish my city patients looked like them. The feeding in Berlin is said to be the worst in Germany, with the exception of the garrison towns. But if much privation has to be suffered, there is no real hunger. I took my meals purposely in the most simple eating houses. Food is much dearer than normally; but there is still sufficient and the poorest are cared for. The impression that I, and many with me had that the war could not last much longer because the stamina of the people was suffering too much from underfeeding, is assuredly very exaggerated, if not entirely incorrect. Your German now takes his coffee without sugar, his potatoes without gravy, his—not very palatable—bread with just a suspicion of butter or only with jam, and he puts up with a couple of meatless days a week. Consequently he has lost his proverbial rotundity; but if he fares poorly he is still far from starving."

NOTED THUG IS CAPTURED

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Mexico City, Sept. 30.—The police of Mexico City believe that with the capture recently of Ramon Canteli they have broken up a band of burglars and robbers which has terrorized the more prosperous residence districts of the city and which has taken loot said to amount to more than $100,000. The band was known as "La Mano que Aprista" or "The Grasping Hand" from the black imprint of a hand which always was left somewhere about the premises where the robbers operated. It is believed many persons robbed feared to report their losses for fear of the vengeance of "The Grasping Hand."

Canteli, it is said, was captured in a subterranean chamber opening from the wall of a deep well. He was traced through his wife who brought him food and it is alleged that several of the victims of the robbers have identified him as one of the band.

The 5,000 policemen of Mexico City have received an increase in pay of from three and one half pesos to five pesos a day. They also will be furnished their uniforms in future. Heretofore they have had to purchase their own uniforms.

Great Britain's Confidence

David Lloyd George, according to reports, has announced that the European war is a fight to a finish. That expresses British confidence and British egotism.

England's great statesman also, according to report, announcing that any suggestions of settlement by the United States, or any other nation, will not be received kindly by Great Britain.

All of which points unmistakably to the belief that the British feel that the final outcome of the war is no longer in doubt and that the end is only a question of time.

It is also indicative of the grim determination of Great Britain to so conclude the war that another outbreak in Europe will be impossible, if not for all time, at least during the lifetime of the present generation and for several generations to come.

If the determination of English statesmen, as reflected in the utterances attributed to Lloyd George, is attained it means the absolute domination of the continent of Europe by the Empire upon whose vast domain the sun never sets.

British statesmen should not be unmindful of the great day nation whose vast army has been rebuilt and whose numberless soldiers have been fired with the ambition which comes only with success.

If Lloyd George's hope and very evident belief is realized and the Teutonic enemy is humbled even right at the conclusion of the war when Great Britain is flushed with success, Russia may stand across her pathway to the far east or turn her armies south from Siberia into India and dispute with the confident British the right to rule the world.

The keys to the Dardanelles may be wrested from the feeble grasp of dying Turkey, but Russia as the custodian of the Dardanelles may prove more formidable a rival to Great Britain than the fanatical Turk.

Bakers Ask an Embargo

Representative bakers of three states, meeting in Cincinnati Thursday adopted resolutions, copies of which were forwarded to the President, asking that such action necessary be taken to place an embargo upon the wheat of the United States.

The bakers base their action upon the showing of dependable statistics that the wheat crop of the United States is only sufficient for home consumption and the American consumer—every one who eats bread—unless some plan is adopted to prevent the shipment of wheat abroad, must pay the price fixed by the European demand less only the cost of transportation. There is much of reason in the claim that the American consumer ought not to be compelled to pay the cost of European crime.

If the rule which the master bakers now ask to be applied to wheat could be applied to all articles of home production even to all food stuffs, it would be more fair.

The American consumer, however, has not only been compelled to meet Europe's bid for wheat, he must meet the bid of Europe for everything he eats and wears and it would hardly be just to compel the American producer of wheat who is consumer of almost everything else to submit the product to his toil to the home market alone.

Burning Up Farm Lands

This is a time of strange occurrences. Men and nature furnish the unusual—in many instances the unheard of.

Right here at home we read of great fires in the onion beds near the little village of McGuffey, in Hardin county.

Here in this section it had never occurred to us that an onion bed could be burned up, but that is literally what happened up in the county of portages, where the waters that drain off the surface of the ground divide, part flowing into Lake Erie and part into the Ohio river.

The onion beds destroyed by fire are not like our onion beds here in our own door yard, nor like the famous onion beds near Frankfort, to the south of us.

They are located in what is known as the big marsh. Here the top soil, if we may call it that, is composed of layer upon layer of decayed vegetable matter ranging in depth from two to eight feet. This season it has become thoroughly dried and fires kindled on the surface have eaten down through the crust and started there a smouldering consuming glow in the under surface, which the breezes fan into occasional flames. The whole surface soil is being consumed like so much of the "punk" the children use to ignite the fuse of their fire cracker.

Nothing but a heavy blanket of snow will stop its spread. Farmers who yesterday were rich in the possession of acres of that exceedingly productive land worth two hundred dollars and more an acre awoke to the knowledge that their estate has been burned up and they are bankrupt.

Burning up farm lands is one of the most unusual happenings of this most unusual time.

Poetry For Today

MOVING TIMES.

The melancholy days are here
When families move to town,
Abandoning suburban joys,
As sere and yellow frown
The face of Mother Nature wears,
And chill with mornings mixed,
Remind the prudent that 'tis time
To get the furnace fixed.

The melancholy days are come
When hammocks 'neath the trees
Are taken down and rolled away
To woo no more the breeze,
In gentle swing with latest book,
Or in a rhythmic move
That keeps time with the tender tale,
The oft-told one of love.

The melancholy days are come
When empty is the bin,
When movie men—not picture ones
The furniture heave in,
When blankets are brought out from chest,
And clothes hang out to air,
When play is over and when work
And cleaning's everywhere.

Modest Montclair Youth Departed After Saving Girl Bather.

Montclair, N. J.—Vernon Peterson, who saved a young woman from drowning at Water Witch, has been recommended for a Carnegie medal. Peterson was about to leave the water when he heard cries for help and saw a girl struggling. He swam out to her and with the aid of a life guard succeeded in bringing her in. The girl, Miss Josephine Smith of Bay Head, Long Island, was unconscious when the shore was reached, but was resuscitated.

Earliest Cold Storage.

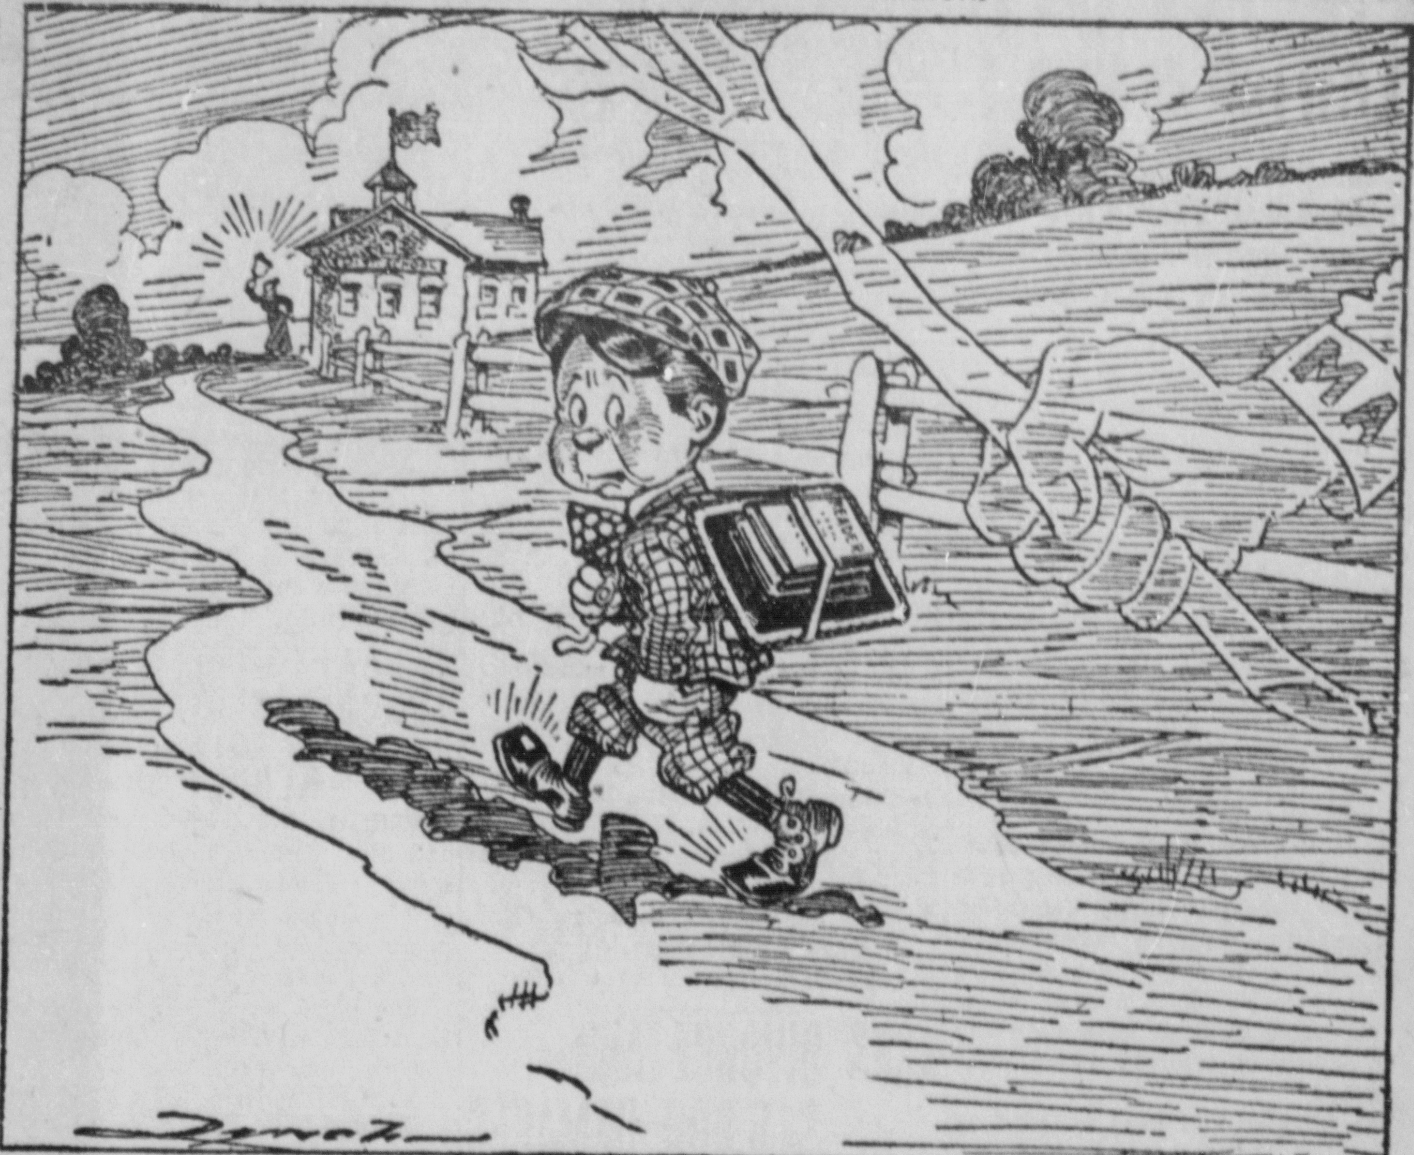

In Macaulay's essay on "Lord Bacon" he points out that in 1626 the subject of his memoir tried the experiment of stuffing a fowl with snow to prevent it from putrefying and in carrying out the work caught cold, from which he died. Macaulay adds: "In the last letter that he ever wrote, with fingers which, as he said, could not steadily hold a pen, he did not omit to mention that the experiment of the snow had succeeded excellently well." If, however, we turn to nature there are instances in Siberia of mammoths preserved in ice so that their flesh is still edible from a period probably coeval with the first appearance of man on this globe. If the Romans brought to their banquets the dainties of the known world, had they not some knowledge of cold storage?—London Spectator.

TAKE GERMAN TRENCHES

Austro-German Forces, Operating in Transylvania, Repulse Roumanian Attacks and Occupy Important Positions—Berlin Announces Successes On the Eastern Front—Allies in Macedonia Repel Bulgarians.

London, Sept. 30.—The Austro-German forces have repulsed the Roumanians at Hermannstadt, Transylvania, and have occupied the heights east and southeast of the town after violent fighting.

The intense fighting in the region of Korynitsa, on the eastern front in Russia, appears to have come to an end. Berlin and Vienna say that the Russian prisoners have increased to 41 officers and 3,000 men. The forces under Prince Leopold of Bavaria have also taken two cannon and 35 machine guns. Berlin records the repulse of a Russian advance near Goduzishki, and Petrograd claims the defeat of a German attack near Gualov. Fighting continues in the Carpathians, but there has been no change in the battle lines.

In Macedonia the entente allied troops are withstanding Bulgarian attacks. The Serbians have checked four attacks against positions on the Kaimakalan plateau, and the French have withstood assaults along the Broda river.

After taking 500 yards of trenches southwest of Lesars, the British made additional progress in the capture of 500 yards of German trenches east of Lesboufs. The British are pushing forward steadily toward the Peronne-Bapaume road.

The British occupancy of the territory between Thiepval and the Ancre is being contested strongly by the Germans. A German counter attack after the entry of the British into a section of the Hession trench resulted in the forcing out of the holders. The section was regained later, however, by the British, London says. Heavy fighting also has occurred around the Stuff redoubt.

Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, commander of the German forces on the Somme front, and Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, both declared the efforts of the French and British to force a breach in the German lines on the Somme have been fruitless. The entente troops will have to go through a winter campaign on the Somme and continue their efforts next year. Crown Prince Rupprecht is quoted as saying: "The imperial chancellor, in his address to the reichstag, declared that the German front there 'stands firm and unshaken,' and added that 'the end is not yet in sight.'"

WORSE THAN WAR

(By American Press)
Berlin, Sept. 30.—Several Berlin grocers and produce dealers have been swindled out of more than $50,000 by a trick of a daring crook. The swindler called himself Dr. Kremser. He announced in the local papers that he had obtained large shipments of beans and would sell them below the maximum price fixed by the government. He received hundreds of applications and always made a sale with the stipulation that 50 per cent of the price was to be deposited in a certain bank before the delivery of the beans. Within a few days the "doctor" sold about 500 tons of beans to his victims. Then he went to the bank, drew the deposits made by the buyers and disappeared. The bills of lading he handed over to the bank when he received the money turned out to be forgeries.

OLD-TIME QUILTING INDUSTRY REVIVED

In a row of quaint little white cottages built on land the title of which dates back to Revolutionary times, young women are now plying the needle, patching, felling, quilting. There are some 20 women and girls who are earning their living making the same kinds of quilts and coverlets their great-grandmothers used to make. As this is the twentieth century, they have put a few modern touches to the industry, the most notable of which are their rigid eight-hour working law, and a regulation earning wage. The quilting bee, as the little cottage factory is named, was established three years ago to give congenial employment to the women and girls of Rye, N. Y., who needed it, and to revive the art of quilting. It was incorporated last year and now has become self-supporting.

BURGLAR VISITS LAWYER'S OFFICE

Documents and Photographs in Sensational Case of a Few Months Ago Stolen After Lock Is Broken in H. H. Sanderson's Office

An unknown burglar visited the law office of H. H. Sanderson, in the Midland Block on Main street, sometime Friday night, picking the lock to an outside door or using a pass key, unfastening the catch of another door and after breaking a lock on a desk in Mr. Sanderson's main office, stole a number of papers and photographs dealing with the sensational case in which T. L. Barger, former city solicitor, was the central figure.

Since the case had quieted down several papers and two photographs obtained through Burns detective in connection with an investigation made, had been kept in a desk in Mr. Sanderson's office, and so far as known these seem to have been the only papers of interest which were disturbed.

The burglar had used a chisel of some kind in forcing one lock until it snapped, and had picked another lock in the same desk. Little clew was left behind by the thief.

Mr. Sanderson stated Saturday that virtually all of the papers in the case could be replaced if necessary, and the plate from which the chief photograph was made is still in his possession, and as many photographs as necessary could be produced from it.

In Social Circles

An epoch making event in the life of the Women's Clubs of this city, was the first meeting of the Washington C. H. organization of Women's Federated Clubs, held Friday afternoon in the new club home in the Y. M. C. A.

It was also the first time the clubs had convened in their new quarters and approval was rife over the large, cheery hall in the Stimson Annex, connecting with the banquet hall and kitchen, and meeting a long felt need of the clubs in providing a convenient and commodious home for these rapidly growing organizations.

The club federation movement is one fraught with great possibilities and opens to the progressive club women of Washington new fields and opportunities.

The project was first advanced by the Cecilians, Washington's well known musical club, and the federation formed by the Browning club and the Daughters of the American Revolution joining with them. On Friday the Clonians expressed the desire to be included as charter members, so that the literary, patriotic and musical clubs of Washington are now fully organized in one co-operative body.

Mrs. Margaret McClure Stitt is president of the city Federation.

The opening reception was attended with delightful social features as well as of inspiration to the federation life. The new home was made doubly inviting with decorations of flags and a big bowl of fall flowers.

The different clubs were well represented in the assemblage and their mutual interests were discussed to the exclusion of other subjects.

Mrs. Stitt presided gracefully and made a fine opening address as federation president. Mrs. Haidee Van Winkle Coffman responded for the Browning Club, with her usual brilliancy and versatility.

Mrs. Harriett Woodward, Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, made an impressive little talk with admirable poise and dignity, and called upon Miss Florence Ogle, the first Regent of the chapter, who responded happily. Mrs. Stitt, also President of the Cecilians, made response for them and Mrs. May McLean Howat ably represented the Clonians.

The Club Women enjoyed having with them Mrs. Charles C. Pavey, President of the Women's Federated clubs Columbus, and a former active club woman of this city. Mrs. Pavey made a bright little address, principally in the nature of reunions scenes of the early development of women's clubs in this city.

Beautiful Victrola music added pleasure to the afternoon and with the serving of coffee and its attendant chatting the first reception of the new Federation closed.

Mrs. D. S. Craig was chairman of the reception committee, a number of prominent club women receiving with her.

There have been several little affairs in the Junior Set this week honoring Miss Gretchen Willis, who leaves Monday for Philadelphia, Pa., to enter the Walnut Lane School.

The gayeries were launched with a jolly "roast" at the Willis country place.

Participating in it with Misses Gretchen and Doris Willis were Misses Ruth Reid, Kathleen Davis, Dorothy Rodgers, Gladys Fenner.

Georgia Bell Hays, Richard Willis, Howard Harper, Selsor Fenner, Kenick Allen, Aloysius McDonald, Robert Jefferson.

Miss Harbison and Miss Houph chaperoned.

Friday evening Miss Kathleen Davis entertained the sextet of Miss Willis' closest girl friends with a picture show party after which Miss Ruth Reid gave a slumber party.

Tonight Miss Dorothy Rogers closes the series with a dinner.

The Staunton W. C. T. U. held its Friday afternoon session with Mrs. Rachel Mark, with a good attendance of members.

Mrs. Mary Stafford had the devotionals in charge.

There were select readings by Mrs. Emma Sudlow on "Temperance Instruction in the Sunday School", and by Miss Lizzie Stokesburg in "The Teacher's Pet."

Miss Blanche Roberts gave an interesting report of the recent county convention, and there was music.

During an enjoyable social hour dainty refreshments were served.

NOTE OF WARNING SOUNDED

Heavy Gold Exports to Follow Close of the War.

ADDRESSES THE BANKERS

Foreign Loans in the Old World May Attract Capital at Interest Rates Far in Excess of the American Rate. Gold Imports of $400,000,000 May Yet Be Expected to Come into the United States.

Kansas City, Sept. 30.—F. J. H. Von Engelken, director of the mint, Washington, spoke at the closing session of the annual convention of the American Bankers' association.

He said that the gold imports from Europe and Canada that yet may be expected to come into the United States were placed at $400,000,000.

Mr. Von Engelken declared these figures had been given to him by financial agents of the entente allies in this country. "We are melting up and turning into American money millions of dollars' worth of English sovereigns and French 20 franc pieces," the director declared.

The increased financial demands being made by the present prosperity were shown by figures indicating that the minting of small pieces of money had more than doubled within the last year. These were said to indicate the increased spending capacity of the country.

"Heavy exports of gold from this country to Europe may follow the close of the European war," said Paul M. Warburg, vice governor of the federal reserve board, in an address. "Foreign loans in the old and new world may attract our capital at interest rates far in excess of our own," he said. "Our exports will have to meet the keen competition of other nations, while the purchasing power of many a nation will be found materially reduced, even though in the beginning there will be a strong demand for certain of our raw materials."

"These conditions, in the long run, may be the cause of heavy gold exports from the United States and, if we remain unprepared, may prove a serious check. If, on the other hand, we forearm, we will be given the opportunity of taking our place as the strongest of the world's bankers and furnish the basis of a solid expansion of our business."

Mr. Warburg appealed to the bankers to "forearm" by increasing their balances with the federal reserve banks and releasing some of the gold in their vaults.

A recommendation for the reduction of the reserves of country banks from 2 to 10 per cent of their capital was passed by the convention.

The subject of congressional authorization of branch domestic banks brought on a spirited debate, but resolutions were adopted against the branch bank plan. James K. Lynch of San Francisco said, after the vote had been taken, that the action went "directly against good, sound banking principles."

The election of officers resulted in the selection of P. W. Goebel of Kansas City, Kan., president; C. A. Hirsch of Cincinnati, vice president; Oliver J. Sands of Richmond, Va., was re-elected chairman of the insurance committee.

Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—Matt Glaser, politician and editor of a weekly newspaper, surrendered following the return of six sealed indictments by the grand jury. Two of the indictments charge Glaser with subornation of perjury and the other four with unlawfully filing false certificates of nomination with the board of elections. The indictments followed an investigation into the petitions to nominate R. A. Mack for governor as the candidate of the Law Enforcement party. Mack withdrew from the race following disclosures of fraud in the petitions.

MORE HENS

(By American Press)

Berlin, Sept. 30.—One of the most serious of the many problems which the German central food commission has to solve is the egg famine. During the last three or four months eggs have disappeared almost entirely from the markets of the larger cities and there is no hope that they will become more plentiful in the future. Early last spring the central food commission ordered a poultry census throughout the empire, which showed that the number of chickens, geese and ducks had decreased over 18 per cent since the beginning of the war. It was found that there were only 117 heads of poultry for every 100 inhabitants, and that more than 30 per cent of the hens were not laying, because they could not be fed properly. As the supply of eggs decreased the demand increased. The reduction of the meat rations forced the population to substitute other nourishing foods and egg prices jumped to a prohibitive height. The central food commission now proposes to take control of the entire poultry industry.

ALL SETTLED

New York, Sept. 30.—The National American Woman Suffrage association announces the designation of Oct. 7 and Oct. 21 as federal amendment days, and on these days suffragists all over the country will mark the progress and status of the Susan B. Anthony amendments with fitting public demonstration. On Oct. 7 public meetings will be held by the suffragists of the local organizations, at which will be given the first reports on the canvass of congressional candidates. The candidates' views on suffrage will be read, suffrage speeches will be made and the voters urged to support the men who have declared for equal suffrage and who have promised their aid in getting the federal amendment through congress if they are elected. Another meeting will be held Oct. 21.

EVEN SPLIT

Outcome of Probe Into Charges Against Pen Head.

Columbus, Sept. 30.—The state board of administration refused either to convict or acquit Warden P. E. Thomas on charges of brutality in the state penitentiary. Members T. E. Davey and D. S. Creamer offered a motion giving the warden a clean bill of health and characterizing his regime as "wise and humane." Members C. C. Philbrick and E. H. Rorick refused even to vote on the motion, offering instead a lengthy report criticizing the prison management and recommending stringent changes. Their report declared, however, they had no desire to remove Thomas as warden. Creamer and Davis voted against this report.

Warden Thomas declined to comment on the board's refusal to clear him.

At the office of Governor Willis, who ordered the investigation, it was said that he has not conferred with any of the board members concerning the investigation findings. It was not indicated whether he will take any action.

PRUSSIA HEAD TAX

The tax amounts to $1.50 and $2, according to the age and earning capacity, and has to be paid by all boys and men between the age of fifteen and sixty years. The money thus raised is to be turned over to the communities to reimburse them for their enormous war expenses.

To Fight Paralysis New York Has to Examine a Million School Children

TEACHER EXAMINES NEW YORK SCHOOL GIRL

The infantile paralysis epidemic failed to have any considerable effect in reducing the attendance at the opening sessions of the public parochial and private schools in New York city. Officials of the board of education estimated that the total enrollment was only about 15 per cent below what would have been regarded as normal, which is, roughly, about 1,000,000. Of these 150,000 about 100,000 were kept at home by their parents through fear of the epidemic. The other 50,000 appeared ready to attend the schools but were sent home by physicians and nurses of the department of health because they came from premises where cases of poliomyelitis are under quarantine or because they had only recently returned to New York from the country and failed to bring with them the proper certificates. Several educational innovations marked the opening, chief among them being the inspection of every child by nurses and physicians of the department of health, the inauguration of a system of compulsory physical training for the first time in the history of American education and the fact that the year marked the beginning of compulsory military training for boys more than sixteen years of age, the first time such a system has ever been provided by law in an American state. Every child who enters the schools for the first time this season is questioned and inspected for signs of an infectious disease, and none is permitted to enter a classroom until the inspection has been completed.

EXPORTS BLAMED FOR HIGH PRICES

Claim of Chicago Women, Who Demand Wheat Embargo.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Resolutions asking an embargo on wheat and flour were adopted at a meeting of club women, most of whom defended bakers here for raising the price of bread.

The increase, they declared, was justified by war exports, crop shortage and added manufacturing expenses, due to improved sanitary conditions. At the same time officials of the office of United States District Attorney Clynne, who are inquiring whether there was any illegal agreement among the bakers to raise prices, directed attention to quotations from European capitals. The fact that bread from American flour is selling cheaper in London, Trieste, Lyons and other cities than in the United States refutes the assertions that the war demand has justified higher prices. Joseph Fleming, assistant United States district attorney, said.

ROUNDING TO

(By American Press)

Hornell, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Charles E. Hughes went through the southern tier of counties in New York state over his political battleground of ten years ago. He spoke in four cities and greeted with handshakes or a few words ten other audiences in smaller towns.

Mr. Hughes repeated his views on the protective tariff, the Adamson law, the maintenance of American rights and other issues of the campaign. He again assailed the administration for "surrender to force," for "broken pledges" and for "extravagant claims." He reiterated his declaration that he stood for protection in its broadest sense, covering American industry, peace and honor.

In his speech at Binghamton and again at Elmira and Corning, the nominee went further than he had gone before in making known his views on the eight hour day. "I am not opposed to the principle of the eight hour day," Mr. Hughes said. "I favor the general principle of the eight hour day. I should like to see an eight hour work day."

BOY RUNS AMUCK

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Angelo Cornelius, a bus boy at the Congress hotel, ran amuck in the hotel. He crushed the skull of a waiter with a coffee pot, shot House Detective Frank Bruck in the stomach, wounded City Policeman Joseph Carlisle and was himself shot. The waiter and Cornelius will probably die.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Columbus, Sept. 30.—Joseph Regent, seventy-eight, was killed and twenty-five men, women and children were injured in automobile accidents in Columbus in twelve hours. In one mishap, southeast of Columbus, a number of men and women were in a machine which ran over an embankment at a roadside turn, and, while in injuries sustained the accident was not serious, the occupants of the machine had an exceedingly narrow escape from death.

GLORIA'S ROMANCE

By Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes

Novelized from the Motion Picture Play of the same name by George Kleine.

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, banker and railroad magnate, with his sixteen-year-old daughter, Gloria, is wintering at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious but willful young lady who chafes under the restraining hand of a governess from whom she repeatedly escapes. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. She steals from her room at night and in an auto plunges into the surf where she leaves the car. Becoming lost in the everglades she falls into the hands of the Seminole Indians. She is rescued and returned to her father, who had offered a reward for her return. Gloria falls in love with her rescuer, Freneau. Five years later she leaves school and meets Freneau at the theater; his attention having been occupied with her sister-in-law he has forgotten Gloria. Gloria feels that her one dream is shattered. Later Freneau persuades her to forgive him. Gloria's sister-in-law, Lois, becomes intensely jealous and Doctor Royce discovers in her an ally to assist in thwarting Freneau. Doctor Royce warns Freneau that there is another woman besides Gloria; Freneau goes sleighing with Gloria without her father's knowledge. It results in pneumonia for Gloria, whose family becomes incensed at Freneau when they learn the truth. Royce is summoned to alleviate Gloria's suffering. Freneau's finances being low he approaches Pierpont Stafford for a loan. Doctor Royce again warns Freneau of his conduct. But Lois, learning of Freneau's betrothal to Gloria, threatens him with dire punishment. Her husband, Gloria's brother David, becomes suspicious; he plans a trap for his wife. Freneau driven to desperation by Lois' threats agrees to spend a week with her in the Catskills. He plans to have Mulry and Gloria as guests. Lois' husband threatens to kill a man. After Freneau takes leave of Gloria she sees from her window an attack made upon him when he goes to meet Lois. Doctor Royce convinces her that what she has seen is the result of delirium. Later a telegram, followed by a letter, comes from Freneau. She replies but her telegrams are returned. The first morning she is allowed from her room, she accidentally sees the supposed suicide of Freneau reported in the paper. Then Gloria swears to find the man who loves her. Royce becomes alarmed and tells what he knows of Freneau to Mr. Stafford. Together they seek to prevent scandal from enveloping Gloria. She accuses them in her mind of conspiracy against her.

Her father went back to his solitude and did not miss the ring for hours. Then he raised a mighty potholer. He had the old butler on all fours looking everywhere for the ring. He even had the ashes in the fireplace sifted. He suspected everybody but Gloria. She was asleep in a loneliness that was somewhat assuaged by her fidelity and her mission.

The next morning Gloria set about her task with an analytical mind. She read in the morning paper that Frank Mulry, the partner of the late Richard Freneau, had decided to incorporate the firm under the name of Frank Mulry, Inc. It made her angry to think of this businesslike haste. But she realized that, after all, she knew nothing of Mulry and that he must know a great deal about her poor Freneau. He was the first man to visit. She was happy in this determination. Her brother David dropped in to say: "Lois and I had a little misunderstanding, but we have made up. We're going to the country house for a new honeymoon. Come along, you two, and have some skating and skiing and toboggan work."

Gloria shook her head. She had other work to do. Her father urged her to make the change of scene, she said she would think it over, but she did not intend to go, as she planned to spend her wits on Frank Mulry. As soon as she could get rid of her father and brother she ordered her own car out for the long voyage downtown.

Frank Mulry was not at his office when she arrived. He had been summoned to Doctor Royce's office by telephone. Thinking that Royce probably wanted a tip on the market, and eager always for a new customer, Mulry lost no time in obeying the summons. He found Royce in a grim humor and not at all polite.

"Mr. Mulry," Royce began, every word as sharp as a surgeon's knife, "you know more about Richard Freneau's affairs than you would like to tell in the open court. Miss Stafford is suspicious of everybody who ever knew Freneau. I imagine that she will look you up. It is the wish of her father and of myself that she shall not find out what a scoundrel the man was. We want to spare her, at least till she grows much stronger and time has healed her wounds a little. It is to your interest as much as ours to keep her in the dark. You know how those letters were mailed and those telegrams sent. You know why Freneau played that horrible trick on the poor girl he was engaged to. I merely wish to warn you that if you see Miss Gloria Stafford coming your way, you get out of her sight, no matter how or when. If you don't you'll be mixed up in a murder trial that may prove disastrous to you and your business."

Mulry's usual smile was twisted into a look of terror. He had more reasons than even Royce suspected for wishing to keep the searchlights of the press and the police out of his office. He was uncertain of the manner of Freneau's death, but the published hints of suicide for financial difficulties had put Mulry into new financial difficulties. He had used the money Freneau had borrowed of Gloria's father to save himself from a crash. He was afraid that Stafford would demand it back at any moment, and he could not face such a demand.

Furthermore, his part in the writing of the letters and the sending of them and the telegrams from the various cities was one that he could not pleasantly explain. He could think of no good lie to tell, and the last person on earth he wanted to meet was Gloria Stafford.

Fortunately for him, he was at Royce's office when Gloria arrived at his. She was received by an impertinent young stenographer who seemed unable to spare time from her gum chewing and her appraisal of Gloria's looks and clothes to impart any useful information.

Gloria said she would like to leave a note for Mr. Mulry. The stenographer pointed to a table whereon lay writing materials. Gloria sat down to invite Mr. Mulry to call upon her.

DIAMOND JIM BRADY RISKS ALL ON ONE STONE; LUCK GOES WITH SPARKLER FOURTEEN IN RING

DIAMOND JIM BRADY AND HIS RING

Diamond Jim Brady, the most brilliant man in the world, who shines in any circle, more replend-duty, risks all, he avows, on the fourteenth diamond in the ring he now wears at the race tracks. This ring contains a center figure of a horse jumping over a hurdle and is surmounted by fourteen diamonds of one and one-half carats apiece. With the loss of one of these stones from the ring, which would leave only thirteen, the fortunes of this world famous man about town, lover of horses and philanthropist will vanish, according to his belief, as he lives in dread of the number thirteen, but he's willing to take a chance—therefore the fourteen. This picture of himself and his ring was taken at the United Hunts meet at Belmont park race track. He was holding his hand on his hip when the photographer snapped it.

READY FOR GAME BRITISH LOSSES AT WILMINGTON IN SEPTEMBER

The Athletics, with a line up supposed to be able to bring home the bacon, no matter if Wilmington does tighten up with Blodgett, the best hurler on the Columbus team, and other American Association professional stars, will journey to the quiet little Quaker town tomorrow for the second one of the post-championship games, full of confidence.

It will be remembered that our noble band of ball tossers won the championship in the inter-city contest of five games, by taking the last game of the series, with ease, on the home grounds of the Clintons two weeks ago tomorrow.

The humbled and contrite Clintons begged them for two exhibition games. The Athletics consented and Wilmington copped the first exhibition contest last Sunday at Washington.

Tomorrow the second exhibition game will be played over in Quaker dom and the Clintons will try hard to land it to atone for their loss of the championship.

Our boys are good sports and like the Wilmington team all right, but not enough baseballically speaking to not fight tooth and nail for the last of the exhibition games.

LOCAL HIGH WINNING GAME AT GREENFIELD

Quite a number of football enthusiasts accompanied the local high school eleven to Greenfield today for the big inter-school game at that place.

In the presence of a good crowd the game started with Harper receiving forward pass. He carried it to within three yards of the goal, when Gregg took the pigskin over the line scoring 6 points for Washington.

Willis then kicked a goal for Washington, scoring one point.

Greenfield outweighed the Washington team, but the visitors showed the most class.

FAYETTE MARE IS SOLD IN COLUMBUS

Babe Crescous, bay mare, 2:12 1/2, owned by Chas. Wissler, Geo. Geesling and Oscar Vallery, has been sold to Columbus parties, for a snug sum, and has been turned over to the new owner. The deal was made Friday.

The handsome mare was raised north of Bloomingburg and did her first racing at the K. of P. Picnic at Bloomingburg.

This year she has won eight straight races, and can do a mile in 2:06.

SATISFIED OF NO WRONG INTENTION

A check or two given by Mr. W. J. Jones, representing the Lincoln Memorial University, of Cumberland Gap, Tenn., having been returned to Mr. C. H. Griffiths, of the Cherry Hotel, Mr. Griffiths Friday went to Xenia to see Mr. Jones about the matter.

Mr. Jones expressed surprise that the checks should be returned, and announced that he would immediately take steps to have the matter attended to, and wired Dr. Geo. A. Hubbell, president of the institution to look after the matter at once.

Satisfied that Mr. Jones would give the matter prompt attention, Mr. Griffiths returned to this city, and Mr. Jones is to be back within a day or two and make proper adjustment. He expressed deep regret that the annoyance should occur, and stated that he would also see that Mr. Griffiths was reimbursed for his expenses over to Xenia.

Mr. Griffiths announced Saturday that there was no cause for alarm or censure, and that he was satisfied of the best intentions of Mr. Jones, and expressed confidence in the cause represented by him.

FIRST KILLING FROST OF SEASON

Saturday morning the first heavy killing frost of the season was very much in evidence, and the mercury registered as low as 30 degrees, or two below the freezing point.

Not only did the frost fall in abundance, but ice the thickness of window glass was frozen.

Virtually all corn, much of which was yet far from ripe, was caught by the frost, and will now ripen very rapidly.

Warned of the approaching frost, Washington citizens by the hundreds took the precaution of covering flowers in exposed places, so that the beauties of summer might be preserved for a few days longer, or until the plants could be transferred from the flower beds to pots and moved inside.

W. C. T. U. MEETING ONE OF INTEREST

The Washington W. C. T. U. held a meeting at the home of Mrs. W. R. Plyley, Friday afternoon, with Mrs. John Van Gundy presiding.

"Scientific Temperance" was the theme under discussion, and two very interesting papers were contributed on the subject by Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Colaw. Miss Helen

Quality First

ONE YEAR AGO THE 3400 r.p.m. CHALMERS CAME INTO BEING; NOW 50,000,000 HAPPY MILES LIE BEHIND IT

Just one year ago the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers was born.

September 30th is its Anniversary Day.

It was untried, unknown, looked a little strange because it was different, and nobody outside of four men knew what it could do.

These four men—the men who had dreamed the car—had little to say.

"What will it do?" they were asked.

"Get in and try," they replied.

And in three days' time every last Chalmers executive had experienced a thrill that was new behind the wheel.

They banged it around in city traffic, abused it on hills, ran it through broken fields, made it take hurdles they would never ask their own personal cars to take.

They were amazed and then they sat down and decided to build three times as many of these cars as they had ever built of any model in a single year before—$22,000,000 worth.

Then behold the situation. Six months later these 18,000 cars were all built. Then 10,000 more were ordered.

And a few days ago we got word that 20,000 more are being built—48,000 of these 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers.

48,000 in all—a $56,000,000 business in a single model!

So you see why we are proud to have a birthday party for the car.

Any car that has 50,000,000 happy miles of use behind it certainly has an interesting history and its birthday anniversary is an event.

Remember this is only its first birthday. So successful has the car proven that the Chalmers Company is continuing to build it right through into next year. So you're safe in getting a car now that won't be obsolete in the spring.

Consider the price, $1090 Detroit.

Come in today. Attend the birthday party.
